The Central States Numismatic Society

CENTINEL

Cab Atkins, Editor, P.O. Box 162, Centralia, Mo.

Volume 11 AUGUST, 1964 NUMBER 3

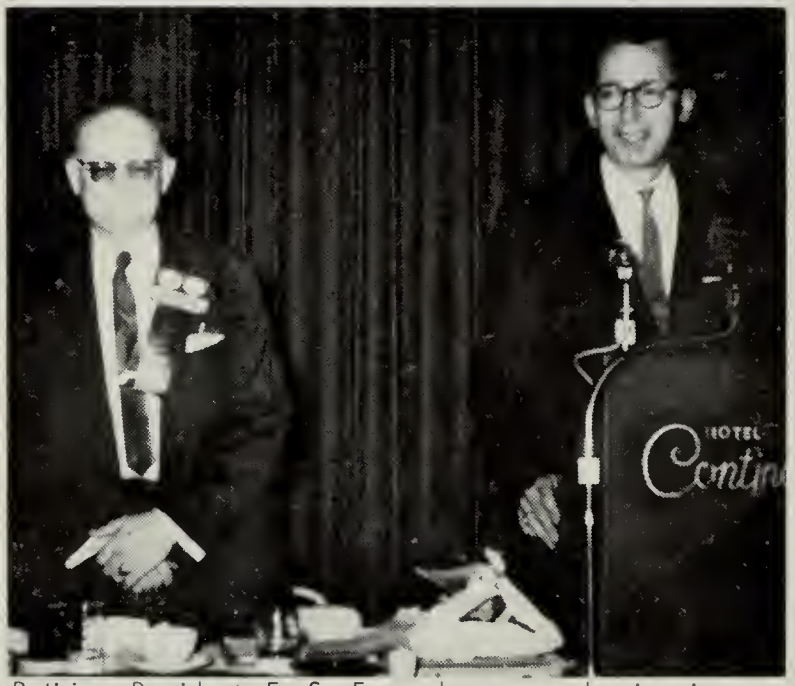
TERRY HEADS C. S. N. S.

Leo G. Terry, well known and long active numismatist of Indianapolis, Indiana, has been elected and installed as President of the Central States Numismatic Society. Terry, who succeeds Dr. F. S. Epps of Homer, Michigan, will serve for the next two years.

Other officials elected to serve two year terms on Terry's staff, include: 1st vice president, Ray M. Janda of Kansas City, Mo.; 2nd vice president, Michael Dolnick of Chicago, Ill.; secretary-treasurer, Paul E. Olson of Minneapolis, Minn.; and to serve on the board of governors, August F. Hausske of Chicago, Ill., Ben Stocker of Detroit, Mich., Phil More of Chicago, Ill., E. C. Gerber of Milwaukee, Wis., Wayne D. Jackson of Logansport, Ind., Joseph T. Welles of Topeka, Kan., Clifford Lindahl of Chesterton, Ind., C. A. M. Smith of Dearborn, Mich., Ray O. Lefman of Kansas City, Mo., Russell E. Porter of Milwaukee, Wis., John Maxim of Kansas City, C. H. Clark of Worthington, Ohio, and Cab Atkins of Centralia, Mo.

Look at these lovely ladies, (and not bad looking gentlemen friends) and it isn't too difficult to recognize the tune. What else, but "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

Besides the installation of new officials, other business conducted at the 22nd Annual Convention held in the Continental Hotel in Kansas City, Mo. April 24-26, was an announcement that all past presidents would be asked to serve the Society in an advisory capacity, the adoption of a revised constitution, the acceptance of 109 new members, plus 10 new life members, and the appointment of Cab Atkins of Centralia, Mo., to serve as Editor of the Centinel.



Retiring President F. S. Epps, beams as he is given a standing ovation. To the right, and beaming equally, is Master of Ceremonies Ray Letman, who also has served as president of C.S.N.S.

The convention was hosted by the Heart of America Numismatic Association, with Allison Lowe and Ray M. Janda serving as General Chairmen. There was an unusually large bourse, and despite an unannounced walkout by members of the Professional Numismatists Guild at noon on Saturday, business appeared to be good and little or no dissatisfaction was expressed by those who remained.

Exhibit awards, as announced by August F. Hausske, chairman of the judges, were as follows:

U.S. Coins: first, Julius Turoff; second, Art Lovi; third, A. C. Taubert.

Foreign prior to 1500 A.D.: first, L. LaMar Davis

Foreign after 1500 A.D.: first, Philip Budd; second, J. Marvin Atkins, Jr.; third, Victor C. Seibert.

Paper money: first, Eugene Morris; second, Art Lovi; third, Victor C. Seibert.

Gold: first, H. L. Kitterman; second, Millie Nyberg; third, Ralph Hardman.

Medals, Medallic art: first, Terrence Cassidy.

Miscellaneous: first, William H. Lee; second, Kathy Flynn.

Juniors: first, Gary Joslin; second, Billy Ellis; third, Stephia Ledgin.

Special awards went to Jack Klaussen of Kansas City, Kan., for his exhibit of Oriental material; the B. Max Mehl award to Julius Turoff; the Midland Empire Association award to Art Lovi; and the Nate Gold award to Matt Rothert.

Retiring President, F. S. Epps awards the C.S.N.S. Medal of Merit to C.A.M. Smith. In the foreground are Miss Eva Adams, Director of The Mint, and Mrs. Ray M. Janda of Kansas City, Mo.

At the Saturday night banquet, the C.S.N.S. Medal of Merit was presented to C. A. M. Smith, and to Arlie Slabaugh of Chicago, for their outstanding contributions to numismatics.

Future Central States conventions will be held in Chicago in 1965, Indianapolis in 1966, and Peoria in 1967.

EDITORIAL

Much concern is being expressed with regard to the fate of numismatics. With the existing coin shortage, there has been volumes of publicity directed toward the hobby. Some of the writings have the authority of knowledge of the subject, while by far a larger part, unfortunately, are more or less the mouthings of those who want to hear their own voices, and who are practitioners of a form of Narcissism.

The big stories of the year to date, concern the continuance of the 1964 date indefinitely, the issue of a new series of half dollar, the silver dollar craze, and the news that no proof sets will be struck in 1965. Receiving less attention publicly, but never-the-less having their impact on numismatics, are the robberies, the multitude of shows, and the power struggles between individuals and groups.

Each of us has a perspective tailored to our interests, own beliefs, our needs. So, the fate of numismatics is generally considered in view of our individual concept. If we rationalize however, we find that most of the problems are not new, they're just more pronounced because of attendant, abundant, and not always favorable publicity.

The closing of mints at New Orleans and San Francisco, no proof sets between 1942 and 1950, the millions of silver dollars lost to the Pitman Act, all had their impact on the fate of numismatics. And then, as it will today, it took these events in stride and continued to grow and prosper.

The fate of numismatics? The hobby is really only getting started! Problems? For sure, but none that can't be, nor won't be licked.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

This being my first message to you as your new president, may I say I feel highly honored to be chosen the fifteenth president to head the society, and especially after reading the names of the distinguished past presidents who have guided this society since 1939. This begins my seventeenth year as a C.S.N.S. member and I have attended all C.S.N.S. conventions since 1946 with the exception of three.

After realizing I was to become head of this organization, I had several ideas to present to my fellow officers at Kansas City for their approval. I certainly had no idea of what was to happen at this convention.

Some of my proposals for the betterment of the society are:

1. Appoint state representatives for the states which do not have a member on the C.S.N.S. Board of Directors.
2. Appoint a Junior representative.
3. Due to the unusual interest in Canadian material, include a Canadian category in competition at all future C.S.N.S. conventions.
4. Include junior categories and give awards if enough interest is shown.
5. Encourage more and better exhibits at future conventions.
6. Increase our membership.
7. Closer relationship in working with the the host club in convention preparations.
8. Include educational programs at all C.S.N.S. conventions.
9. Improve Centinel.
10. Formulate some plan for a better understanding between dealers and the host club.

I wish to thank all of you who have contacted me in the interest of the society since Kansas City. Due to the fact that I am being pressed for comment on the Kansas City walk-out and I do not have all the details from both sides, I would prefer not to make a complete statement on this until we hold our interim meeting in late summer or fall. Personally, I felt this walk-out was unnecessary. Many of these dealers I have known for some twenty years, they are men of integrity, people I have high respect for, and many I consider valued numismatists. How much more democratic it would have been not to have had this demonstration. Instead, they could have submitted a letter presenting their complaints to the C.S.N.S. Board Meeting. I cannot understand men of this caliber being told by a leader what conventions they can or cannot attend, or being fined for not walking out, or attending certain Numismatic Conventions. Is this the American way? After all, their being members of C.S.N.S. made their first loyalty to the Central States Numismatic Society.

In all sincerity, my heart is in this organization and I shall to the best of my ability work and strive to do everything in my power for the best interest of C.S.N.S. and its members, and be guided in all decisions by the duly elected officers who serve with me. I will also abide by the Constitution and By-laws.

Article I, Section 3, states: the object of this society shall be to promote the science of numismatics. To aid its members in the study, acquisition and exhibition of numismatic material, and to cooperate with all numismatic organizations including individuals in the science of numismatics. This I shall uphold.

Today, numismatics is at a critical stage. It is in the midst of fraud, turmoil, discontent and dollar signs. If this continues, the bubble is sure to burst and then we all lose.

Last, but not least, many thanks to the Heart of America Numismatic Association for an excellent 1964 convention. The next C.S.N.S. convention is to be held at the Congress Hotel, Chicago, April 23, 24, 25, 1965. You are invited. Please plan to be there.

I am looking forward to seeing many of you at the A.N.A. convention at Cleveland in August.

—Leo G. Terry

THE CHATTER BOX

An appropriation has been made by Congress to strike Silver dollars; late reports say that 45 million 1964's will be struck, but nothing could seem more improbable with the current shortage of minor coinage. To do so would certainly qualify our Treasury officials for the grand old pastime of Russian Roulette.

I wonder if the roll and bag market is about ready to be deflated? With the likelihood of the 1964 date being used indefinitely, who is willing to take a chance on this coinage? If the 1964 market crashes, watch for the other high mintage dates to follow.

Sometimes when you're tempted to be slightly impatient with a less informed member of the numismatic fraternity, think about the difference between a hollyhock and a hibiscus. I suppose it's simple to a flower lover, but it was no snap for me.

The Treasury's ruling on gold certificates should bring them out of hiding now that they can be legally possessed. Watch for them in currency displays at the shows you attend. The "yellowback" should really add a great deal of interest to these exhibits, and their appearance will be a welcome sight.

I hear a lot of talk about too many shows, but personally I like it. Admittedly, the major ones need some coordination in timing, but with local shows, sponsored by local clubs, I believe "the more, the merrier."

SECRETARY'S MESSAGE

First, sincere thanks to all members who used the application blanks to sign up new members. We are having new blanks printed and will be glad to send you as many as needed. May we remind our officers and governors that part of their jobs as representatives of CSNS is to have some blanks along when they go to meetings or conventions, that their prestige helps a lot in getting the signatures and of course the essential $2.00. And speaking of $2.00 dues, while we have had a splendid response in April and May, all are not yet paid, and we must quote the Constitution and By-Laws: "if not paid by September 30, the Secretary-Treasurer shall inform such members by mail at their last known address, that unless their current year's dues are paid, their resignation accepted, good cause shown to the satisfaction of the Secretary or knowledge of their death has been received by the secretary on or before October 31st of the then current year, they will automatically forfeit their membership and their names shall be published in the next issue of the Centinel as having forfeited their membership for non-payment of dues."

So, please look up that addressed return envelope, enclose a check or money-order for $2.00, or currency if handier, affix a 5c stamp, mail and your new membership card will reach you promptly.

And thanks a lot for those pleasant notes enclosed in so many letters, they are always appreciated. And speaking of notes, remember our editor when something of interest comes up. Club news, convention news, ideas and suggestions are always welcome.

A.N.A. HOME AND HEADQUARTERS PROGRAM

Charles M. Johnson, LM 439

With the adoption of a working plan for the establishment of a national home and headquarters for the A.N.A., and the announced intention of the Board of Governors to work for the accomplishment of this undertaking, discussion of some of the problems associated with the project become important.

Where will the headquarters be located? This is the first question asked by nearly everyone. The location has not been determined yet, but the Board plans to seek a central and readily accessible site near major transcontinental air, rail and highway routes. Then it will be easy for members to visit and communicate with their Association's headquarters. In selecting a site, consideration will be given also to such matters as (1) satisfactory and nearby accommodations for visitors; (2) attractive surroundings, free from creeping urban blight; (3) a suburban location away from commercial and business districts and (4) ample space for expansion and parking. Perhaps of all factors to be considered, the most important will be the cost of acquiring and operating the headquarters. Some areas would be much more expensive than others. Also, a large gift of money or property could have considerable bearing on a final decision. If a choice parcel of property, either with or without a suitable building as a gift, it would be difficult for the Board to refuse it.

How much will it cost? Estimates of the cost of the completed home and headquarters have varied from a low of $80,000 to a high of $500,000. The low figure might provide a very minimum facility which would not meet all the present requirements of the Association. The high figure would permit the establishment of a fine facility and an endowment fund, the income from which would be used to help maintain the larger facility. In any event, the ultimate size and extent of the headquarters depends upon the amount of funds available for the job. The working plan adopted by the Board contemplates a prudent and cautious approach to the whole project to avoid over extending the Association financially.

Why is a change necessary? Today the A.N.A. is the largest and most active numismatic organization in the United States, if not in the world. Its activities affect every aspect of numismatics. It maintains the only circulating numismatic library available to the average collector; it supplies audio and visual educational material to its many affiliated clubs and societies; it publishes The Numismatist, a fine monthly numismatic magazine; it conducts an annual convention for the good of the numismatic fraternity; it publicizes and creates a favorable image for numismatists through National Coin Week; it provides the benefits and prestige of a national organization for its members; and it continues a rich tradition of leadership and accomplishment, maintained during the past 73 years of its existence, in every area of numismatic activity. The A.N.A. faces ever increasing demands to improve and expand these activities and to undertake many new and important ones as a result of the increasing interest and explosive growth of the hobby of numismatics. Its membership has grown from 15,000 to 25,000 members and to over 1,000 affiliated clubs within the past five years. Whether we like it or not, the Association is growing and it must expand and prepare to meet the many new problems and requirements it faces or risk losing its position of leadership.

The most pressing of these problems is to change a small organization into a much larger one, designed to keep pace with growth and expanding needs. One of the first steps in this direction is to overcome the serious handicap of maintaining an organization in makeshift quarters in widely separated sections of the country. At present, the treasurer is in Washington, D.C.; secretary and administrative personnel in Arizona; library in Nebraska; editor in Illinois; advertising in Arkansas; custodian of slides in Illinois; and its numismatic collections in Michigan, Nebraska and Washington, D.C. In the past this separation of offices was necessary because our small hobby organization could not afford full time personnel and it was necessary to place many jobs on a voluntary and part time basis. This reason no longer exists and consolidation of the scattered offices and employment of full time people would result in a more business like and efficient operation. The staff could work closer together in planning, and duplication of effort, equipment and facilities would be unnecessary.

By establishment of a permanent headquarters, frequent changes of various offices would no longer be necessary. Recently the library was moved from Seattle to Lincoln; and the secretary's office from Wichita to Phoenix, where it now faces the loss of its lease and moving to new quarters. These changes are disruptive, expensive and harmful to the organization. Obviously, the organization needs to be housed better and provided with the stability of a permanent headquarters if it is to fulfill its destiny and meet the many challenges it faces today.

What about the future? It is axiomatic that no planning for today can be complete without thinking about tomorrow, so we must study past trends and project them into the future. On this basis the A.N.A. faces a tremendous growth which may double its membership within the next five to ten years. Another important consideration for the future is the stupendous financial investments in numismatics today. This big money is found not only in collections but also in publications, supplies, organizations, coin businesses and related activities. These all provide a broad base for encouraging interest in numismatics and for the rapid development of the more important educational and cultural aspects of the hobby, which is the principal domain of the Association and all true numismatists.

Before closing this discussion, it should be pointed out that a strong A.N.A. is necessary to the health of the whole hobby of numismatics, present and future. It is inconceivable that any member of the numismatic family, whether local club, regional group, hobbyist or those who make their living from the hobby would want it any other way. A strong national organization can be a constant source of pride and benefit to our hobby. On this premise the A.N.A. is asking for support, participation and help from the numismatic fraternity to attain its goal of a national home and headquarters for the purpose of bringing together and strengthening its organization.

How can I help? You can participate in this worthwhile project by sending a contribution for the home and headquarters to Don Sherer, Executive Secretary, 3520 N. 7th St., Phoenix, Arizona 85014. Individuals or a group may offer a suitable site to the Association, thus making a contribution and possibly influencing the Board in the location of the Headquarters. It would also provide a lasting memorial for the donor. Any gift, either property, money or numismatic items are tax deductible in your income tax return. The amount of your deduction is the fair market value of the donated item or collection at the time you make the donation, not its original cost. If it has increased in value, you also avoid paying tax on the unrealized profit.

BATES AND PETERSON

This is our way of correcting one of our errors of omission. When the last membership list was published, the above two names were omitted from the Life Membership roster. Dick Peterson of Chicago, managed to remind me first hand, but Jerry Bates of Florissant, Missouri, had to resort to a letter. In any event, full and profuse apologies are due, and hereby publicly given to the following Life Members:

Jerry Bates LM 94, 670 Redwing Drive, Florissant, Missouri

Richard E. Peterson LM 95, 12906 S. Union Ave., Chicago, Illinois

Hope we don't miss LM 100 in this issue. It just happens to be "ye olde editor," and wouldn't that be a fine kettle of fish?

FROM THE IMMEDIATE PAST PRESIDENT

It is impossible for me to write each person a letter of thanks for their part in making our most recent convention at Kansas City, the success it was. So I take this method to again voice my thanks to each of you who shared in this responsibility.

To all my officers and governors of the past two years, I very much appreciate the support you gave me. No President ever had a better board or group to work with. Thank you, each one!

The Central States Numismatic Society is in good hands, and I hope each of you will support our new President, Leo G. Terry, who is a man exceptionally well qualified for this position.

I also feel I should say a word to clarify the situation at Kansas City, when, as a group, the P.N.G. closed their bourse tables. First, although Central States does lay down some ground rules for the host club to follow, it has nothing to do with the actual running of a C.S.N.S. Convention. This matter of all decisions regarding bourse, banquet, programming, and entertainment, is all left to the host club. The C.S.N.S. does set the rules on exhibits.

Secondly, block booking! Let's take the bull by the horns. In doing so, I will lose some friends. Is it impasse? I say "No." We should all learn to behave and act like grown people. A solution to a problem is not found by walking away from it. The ANA and the CSNS, and all sectional organizations should appoint a working committee to study these problems. When each has arrived at their conclusions, then they should meet and work out the rules. This is a matter to be finally resolved at the conference table, with representatives from the large fraternal organizations, and from groups such as RCDA and PNG.

Dr. F. Steven Epps
Immediate Past President
